Hi! I have sent some of my GME to computershare. Thinking if I should send more. But first I have a question!

I've heard people speculate that the only way we will hit a floor of 20 mil or more - a dividend needs to be issued by RC.

The government will stop the price going up to much. The removal of buy button will happen again. And they will shut down the stock completely before it gets into larger numbers (Not my words, just want to understand...)

So, I've heard that they will be halting and preventing the moass from happening. Only way for astronomical prices would be through a dividend.

I am guessing that a dividend will be delivered to shares in computershare only?

To sum up my questions:

Q1 - will dividend be sent out only to cs accounts in that case?

Q2 - is it likely that moass won't happen for shares with brokers and they will halt trading the stock?

Preventing moass

Q3 - if a dividend is issued for all shares - why would the price come up with them and not the stocks with brokers?

Thanks! Ape strong
