New investors and apes, funds don't tell you their plans, so don't let them know yours. Play your cards close to your chest and keep your business just that, your business. Something I've learned over the past year:

Funds hunt for stop losses and limit buys lower than the current ask. It's a hinderance to the funds if you don't use stop losses and limit orders below the current ask. Don't make their job easier!

Also, earnings coming up. Look at historical price actions around earnings so you know what to expect from the funds.

Brick by brick. Now back to the fun that is $GME!
