A*fter writing a brief question post 'Seriously, what is happening with reddit?' many apes commented or DMd me to confirm that they are seeing or experiencing the same issues and irregularities around redundant and strange reddit feeds, voting anomalies, post suppression, shadow banning and more.*

I'm sharing this in its own post because I think there are a lot of other apes out there that are experiencing the same thing. Home screens that show irrelevant information; quality posts gaining no traction; upvoting and saving a post only to come back and see that it is still saved but no longer showing upvoted; early downvotes, attacks and criticism on a post in an attempt to discredit it - and yes, the *post simply not showing up* in feeds for some apes.

It is easy to be disheartened when the effort put into writing and sharing the GME story and DD only results in its failure to gain any traction. This is real. It is happening and apparently at an escalating rate. \[Are we getting closer hedgies?\] It is damned discouraging when writing DD and a carefully formulated post gains no votes or traction, while ridiculous screen shots and comments can get hundreds if not thousands of votes. Personally, I've written so many posts, submit them, only to have to resubmit them - and have them gain less than 25 votes before falling into the hereafter. I just ended up deleting them.

***I didn't realize until now that so many other apes were experiencing the same thing, and hope that by sharing this post it helps others understand that their efforts and contributions are appreciated by the true apes of this sub.***

*Some comments:*

* This is crazy, I thought the person who posted the other post about your DD was yanking my chain but sure enough it wouldn't show any of your posts until I refreshed the page twice.

* I clicked on your profile and the most recent non pinned post was from over a month ago. I refreshed twice and saw the rest. Right weird.

* I have had to re-upvote sensitive posts more often now than ever before. The censor is real.

* I think it's strange that more than 1 or 10 apes are witnessing different things happening on their screen and not by accident or glitch (lol). Something is really off.

* Yep happens a lot to really good DD. They get drowned at the cradle and we'll have someone repost it as an image and that get more traction. Prob because they have an algorithm that reads the text and if it hits certain key words it gets downvoted, shown less and killed

* True. I am on Reddit and spend 99% of the time here. When I go to Home i don't see any Superstonk posts.

* 100% been noticing this for a little while. I go to home and posts from small subreddits I'm in with like 100 upvotes will be always at the top on my feed. I barely see superstonk posts on my feed, even when they get like 15-20k upvotes. I thought I was just being paranoid but you got me thinking different now...

* We are slowly being shadow banned.

* I've been noticing weird things when sorting by hot for a while. But now post are not showing up for me while sorting by new. From the last week, I've noticed I missed a few post that I really shouldn't have.

* Very often my home feed gets limited, it only shows like 5 posts, then there is nothing more to see. I keep refreshing and if it doesn't help, I just leave it for an hour or two and then more posts are shown. Yesterday I was swarmed with posts from another sub I had never heard of. It happens often Reddit can't load, and I only see posts I've already viewed. So many things, and it's very annoying.

* I don't like the new update to homepage on mobile app it keeps showing me stuff from subs I'm not even subscribed to.

* I'm seeing Portugal posts and a bunch of other shit I've never clicked on those subs. I missed the entire partnership announcement yesterday because it wasn't on my SuperStonk feed. I found out about it on DUBESSBEE after seeing it there I clicked into Super and it was way down like 50+ posts.

* Started happening to me last month. Even my notification request for the sub would get turned off. I'd turn it on and it'd be off again next time I looked bc I wasn't seeing the sub in my feed. Seems better now but I'm suspicious.

***A HUGE THANK YOU to the apes that shared their experiences and recently visited my profile to check out my posts and upvoted them with encouraging comments. It definitely encourages me to keep trying and keep sharing. I hope this post does the same for others!***
