Last night i was experiencing a bit of some fomo even after purchasing 10 more shares through CS to up my xxx shares. While laying in bed getting ready to fall asleep i told myself if we did not see the stock begin to take off today i would do exactly as the title of post says. This morning's fuckery sealed the deal for me; as it looked like GME was about to have another steady increase today and was just about to pass $200 stock price the SHF clearly have used another move to manipulate the stock price. And so I just listed on craigslist and meta marketplace my 2008 bmw 135i wrapped with wheels and a stage 3 tune for 8.5k and my 2010 Toyota tacoma with loads of after upgrades including brand new fun country tires for 21k. When i get the time to head over to the storage unit i will be taking pictures of my inboard wake boat to also sell as it is prime boat selling season where i live. I have a steady enough source of income to pay bills and get by fine for me to COMMIT ALL PROCEEDS FROM THESE SALES INTO BUYING MORE STOCK FROM COMPUTER SHARE. When the sales and purchases are complete i will be more than happy to upload proof of CS purchase. I am making this post because I believe after this morning that there is still lots of work to be done before we see MO ASS. DRS IS WORKING. Board members are purchasing more shares in their name as well on lit exchanges. I truly believe i will be able to purchase even better toys when this is all said and done, but for now there is still more work to do. If you are still somehow able to buy more shares please do and DRS them. There is no reason you should not have transferred at least a healthy portion of your shares to computer share yet if they are in a different broker. Prepare for harder battles fellow apes i know there was a lot of excitement for today and this week but it looks as though this will take a lot more time and work!
