We have seen that some moves like the one BBBY did when they were buying back shares moved the prices of all meme stock including GME. Now NAKD might be in the same baskets as gme, because I remember it too was one of the original meme stocks.

NAKD made a reverse 15 to 1 stock split.

The price was $0.4825, now it's $6.27. more than 13% down.

Still, if you calculate it the price should be above 7.2375$ for longs to be in profit.

What does this now mean for GME? Just informing people as this move might change the plan for hedgies.
