So I have all of my GME shares currently DRS'd via compushare and was wondering if anyone could answer a question I have. I have had some financial issues come up and need to sell a few of my shares but can't figure out the length of time it takes to receive funds. The only option I can seem to find is mailing a check with my proceeds and that could take almost a month but that doesn't really help me. Does anyone know if there is a way to sell on Compushare and receive your funds faster? I saw you could transfer shares does that mean I could like sell them directly to someone else?
