They wanted to hide the fact that their move was to spike IV on options. The NFT marketplace is old news and GameStop has yet to make an official announcement. The use of dark pools on Friday likely means they internalized a lot of trades to get the price below max pain. People cash settling weeklies also help decrease the price.

They DO NOT want the news out that the shorts haven't covered. Instead they just throw out random bullish articles to control the narrative. They DO NOT want you to buy long dated options that covers the full exposure window. As you can see, they can manipulate the fuck out of the stock in the short term but in the long term, they have to pay for the fuckery. Constant BUY pressure combined with HOLDING through their manipulation and BUYING even more when they use fuckery to try to get us to sell is what will fuck them. Buying options that are far enough out and close to the money is exactly what they do not want us to do. It's what fucked them last year, it's what can fuck them again this year. And when, not if, that price climbs to a point where you can cashless exercise, you do just that and force those fuckers to find a real share in the shit they've created. RETAIL IS MOASS!!! We are the ones that can margin call them and change this broke boomer system for the better. They deserve everything that's coming to them!!! Watch them try to shut off the buy button on options. They can't! And when they do, we all exercise and hold them by the balls until they beg us to let go. And then we squeeze harder!!!

Not financial advice. Also, don't sell shares to buy options. Holding the floor is what's important.
