New York, New York. A lawsuit filed in federal court Friday pits the owners of Mayonnaise products against Chicago-based, Kenneth Cordele Griffin. Both companies can trace their roots back to Greenville and Citadel to Chicago. However, no one can understand why the Citadel CEO keeps lathering his body with Mayonnaise before bed. Either way, the mayonnaise companies are trying to get the CEO to stop him from sending images of himself nude in a tube of mayo. The federal court's received documents with images of Kenneth (AKA stripper mayoman) Griffin holding a bedpost like a stripper, nude, and covered head to toe in mayo.
