So i was late to this, better late than never right? I have been here lurking for awhile now just making my brain wrinkled. GME is the play, DRS is the way, and HODL for phone numbers is what al the DD is telling us.

Ryan Cohen is for the people and I have to follow his lead. Who else cares about shareholders and general market conditions like he does?

That said a co worker can print on mouse pads, cups etc... So i asked if he could do the NFT marketplace on both. Pictures are the results. I think they turned out good, just not great. Its a prototype but now i have a cup to sport off and a mouse pad to have at work. When this marketplace starts i'll be buying NFT's on it and I can only imagine what happens next.

I'm here to stay for good, long after we moon. Its really the only stock I can truly believe in at this point.

Thanks to everyone who post about and talks about whats happening and all the criminal activity they have uncovered. I have learned so much in such little time.

I don't even like mayo anymore...
