I have shares through TD Ameritrade (no ugly comments because I didn't DRS pls). I was curious if dividends are automatically reinvested as stock so I did some digging and called TD. First, the guy said GME is not paying dividends; it is splitting stock (I'm not saying if he is right or wrong). I said I wanted to turn on reinvestment of dividends for my entire portfolio, anyway. They call it DRIP. You can call 800 669 3900 to enroll in DRIP. There is no charge to do this. I think there is a way to do it yourself online, too.
