In regards to our beloved stock it's becoming more and more clear that gme needs option plays.

(In full disclosure) I will not be apart of them.

I don't have the kick around cash for it but if the players who are are educated and willing to use options aren't ostracized and judged we would have an additional weapon as individual investors. We need to play them as hard as they play us. Just 2 cents I'd like to throw around
