

Title: Guess which used car seller surged 35% and was halted several times yesterday?

Author: theB_1951

Created 2022-05-13 14:18:52 UTC

Permalink: /r/DDintoGME/comments/uossmz/guess_which_used_car_seller_surged_35_and_was/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/uossmz/guess_which_used_car_seller_surged_35_and_was/

Carvana. Remember the flood of sus "I am selling my car to buy more GME stock!" yolo posts earlier this week? I immediately recognized that Carvana's name was prominently displayed on every single such post, and gave a slow clap for damn clever marketing. Well played, Carvana.

Then this morning, I see this headline and read this article. I immediately put down my breakfast of crayons and popped on my tinfoil hat. Could this possibly be a coincidence? I doubt it.

I am too busy today to look too deeply, so I need an adult. Please help.