Hello everyone. I had this idea about u/realpulte. I read that He loves to help and i really like that. Now there is a saying where im from: give a man a fish and you feed him a day. Teach him how to fish and you feed him for life. So what i want to say is, what if that generous man stops giving away money and starts to gift gme shares? He would Not help them that quick but He would make them potential rich for life. Im sure He could accomplish that. What do you guys think?
