= = = = =

***[ORIGINAL POST STARTS HERE:]***

SUMMARY:

* **1) Here's my post from the last time I got a screen recording of this happening in real time:**

* [https://www.reddit.com/r/Superstonk/comments/t9l129/video\\_massive\\_sp\\_500\\_3474\\_billion\\_vol\\_glitch/](https://www.reddit.com/r/Superstonk/comments/t9l129/video\\_massive\\_sp\\_500\\_3474\\_billion\\_vol\\_glitch/)

* **2) At 11:20:01 AM EST today, Mar 23, 2022:**

* S&P; 500 volume "glitches", increase of +108% on the day

* **3) Total observable volume spike:**

* \+672.2 Million spike to 1.296 Billion total volume on the day

* Not that much of a spike right? Keep reading :)

* Note: At first, Daily Avg volume is NOT affected

* **4) At 11:20:25 AM EST, ~24 seconds later:**

* \+672.2 Million spike is removed, volume drops back to *actual* 623.8 Million

* At same time: Daily Avg ***increases*** (by 29 Million) from 3.847B to 3.876B and ***STAYS THERE*** even though the volume spike was clearly completely removed

* It would take MASSIVE, "INVISIBLE" VOLUME to cause the average to jump like that

* *Also: Charts available again. Hooray /s*

* **5) All this, **not to mention:**

* The observable volume spike shouldn't have even been enough to cause the Daily Avg to increase in the first place

* Remember, the spike only brought the total to 1.296 Billion, when the Daily Avg was already 3.847 Billion

* If any change to the Daily Avg could possibly have made sense, *it should have been a* ***decrease***,

*NOT an* ***increase***

* ***6) EDIT2: (Copy/Paste from last post bc maybe there's something to*** **this comment*** **from*** u/NotBerger ***below):***

* "Assuming apple draws their data from some continuous feed there should be no reason for the hiccup and missing chart Wat doin??"

* *And from my last post:*

* *Does anyone know what the signal is that feeds charts out across all tracking apps & sites? And who is responsible for feeding it out (and has ability to cut it off)? If we could ID those things, maybe there's a way to watch for when the signal is up & when it's down, which could be a very telling indicator in and of itself... Knowing these pieces of info could also create an incredible opportunity to shine the bright light of accountability on this bullshit by encouraging key entities to sit up and answer for it every time it happens, the same way following the money back up to its source brings shady shit to light.*

Again: I'm no quant, but I can tell you this with certainty:

Daily Average Volume DOES NOT GO UP BY 29 MILLION ON A FUCKING IMMEDIATE VOLUME DROP OF 672.2 MILLION

**HERE'S THE VIDEO:**

Just for fun, here's the very moment the volume was changing back to 623.8 Million, as the chart magically becomes available again:
