

Title: Don't effectively leave unused ballots lying around ripe for misuse. Vote all your shares rather than count on the default.

We know that the GME filing states that unvoted shares will be counted as "FOR". I've read too many comments where folks are taking this as a reason to be lax about voting.

In my opinion, that's ripe for abuse. It seems to present a lot of opportunity for bad actors (e.g. your broker) to essentially use your votes. Yes, they already have a lot of power to misuse, but why make it any easier for them? Especially since voting takes about 60 seconds. Seems well worth the effort to me.

Not financial advice.
