This week, SHF working real hard to hammer down GME. It clearly showed their desperataion.

I just wanted to share why I do expect pretty good run next week.

As you see the patterns below from A - B in the chart. I've figured out very similar pattern throughout last year March until now.

Shorting has happened for exact 3 months from March - May and run up, June- August and run up and now we are in Nov - Jan and next run up is waiting for us! ■■■

Even when you look at last year January chart, run up started from Jan 11. And I wondered why it started from Jan 11.

Surprisngly, it moved based on Short interest reporting dates. Jan 11 (Tuesday) is next one and I believe on Jan 26, short squeeze will happen.

I also checked other heavily shorted stocks to see if it's correlated. And yes, it does follow Short interest reporting dates! And short squeeze ususally lasted about 2 weeks.
