So I still haven't received my GME shares and mailed the bank again to remind them that pay date was yesterday and I still haven't received them.

Sarah from the bank told me:

As said in my previous email, as soon as our broker has all the shares they will do all that's necessary and book them in your account.

I replied: I understand but are they having trouble getting the shares? And am I entitled to some sort of compensation considering I have to deal with the stress of being down 10k due to not having shares and GameStop saying the dividend date was the 22th and you said pay date was the 26th.

Let's see what she replies.

(I know I'm not entitled to any compensation but I figured it doesn't hurt to ask as a form of motivation)
