I have been buying GameStop and the theater stock for 16 months now, I have high XXX shares of GameStop and XXXX of the other one all DRSED but never fed the bot.

85% of my GME qualify for long term capital gains and 95% of my movie theater qualify for long term capital gains.

For two weeks now I have been considering selling all my theater shares and go FULLY ALL IN in GameStop, which it would buy me another 300 shares or so... (started pulling the theater shares out of Computershare and sending over to fudelity)

My wife said I should have sold a long time ago lol, she says:

- Which insiders are buying and which ones are selling?

Should I pull the trigger?

[EDIT:] Saw a comment about saying I don't have the amount of shares I said I have, which in my opinion is not a lot. There are people with WAY more shares than me, however, I can provide my CS statements to MODS if they message me. Thank you everyone who left their 2 cents. Appreciate all of you.
