What up Apes, been a holder since Jan and made all the migrations with the start from the original Sub that can't be named. What I've noticed and what other I'm sure have is a topic pops up there's usually one post that sparks interest and then people do some digging present their finding and within a day or two it disappears and a "NEW" topic is talked about and pushed on us. Some topics are so important but they don't even get as many eyes on them as they should.

Hence this post. Instead of the weekend drama that happens, lets try to spend that time doing some more digging on stuff that never got the light. If all you care about is BUY and HOLD GME, then I would skip right to the bottom for the last couple points, if you want to go down some rabbit holes, get your magnifying glasses out and LETS DO IT

I'm happy to see Point72 getting some more traction again, as I believe it is pushed down on purpose, Stevie already had been in the spotlight and definitely wants to avoid it again, especially on how bad he was painted with the last one.

Another thing that is starting to get talked about again is Point72s interest with GreyScale and C*in B*se, I believe they're actually all in the same building, we all know the crypto pump and dumps are relevant with the price of GME. Also in the last month or two I'm sure we have all seen that banks are quietly adding cryptos to their portfolios and letting their customers buy and sell crypto.

There was also the PPP loans (The Paycheck Protection Program allows entities to apply for low-interest private loans to pay for their payroll and certain other costs. ... The amount of a PPP loan is approximately equal to 2.5 times the applicant's average monthly payroll costs.) This was briefly mentioned and looked into with no real outcome from it, could the banks be using this money as leverage?

Another big name that gained some traction for a day or two that DIED really quickly and never really popped up again was Martin Shkreli, he was known before to post on forum boards and create pump and dumps this post explains it well (auto mod won't let me attach it but i can send it to someone if they want to read it) , I believe he is part of this in some way, every time he was brought up in the past he was spun to be a terrible person (which he might be) but no one ever discussed the connection with him.

Another name that I only saw about 1 post of is Dan Loeb he's a hedge fund investor that had some connections. This post didn't gain any traction but I believe there is more behind the scenes with him, he's made it clear in the past that he doesn't like Kenny, he's definitely in the background but knee deep in this game as well.

Let's now dig a little bit deeper into our friend Kenny. We all hate Kenny and I hope after all this he gets the proper amount of Jail time and not just a small slap on the wrist. But Kenny is one person, as seen on Ryan Cohen's tweet unless he's literally working on the toilet he can't be doing this him self. There are a lot of workings behind the scenes. We all know he bought a bunch of land in Texas to run his operation but did everyone know that he hired a ton of software engineers. Why would he need software engineers you ask? Well this is just the algo's that are fighting the price these days. they run their code and they run a cycle of FTD's. GME isn't the only one that they have been shorting to death and there was a list floating around of other companies that had similar waves of FTD cycles. There was a really good post on two top Citadel employees that I can't find right now but it went on to explain how these 2 guys and their history, it seems to be deleted now but if anyone remembers their names Ill add it in.

I've done a lot of looking back and I have a lot more of really interesting Posts that never got the traction for no real reason why other than maybe someone trying to put us on a wrong path so we dont find the skeletons. Goldman Sachs and SpacS have a lot of great digging but they never really pop up as much.

Even one of the AMAs her main focus was SPACs and everyone came out saying she was a shill bc she didn't talk about GME enough.

I'll leave it at that for now and if this gets a lot of traction I can try to do it every weekend time permitting of course until we've gone down all roads, and if we don't find anything well at least we didn't talk about mod lovers all weekend and let the good stuff slide between the cracks.

Lets now talk about FUD!! we know it, we've seen it, we are starting to see the patterns, they are running out of ideas and I believe in the near future they will get nasty and dirty. Like we've all said before WE ARE NOT THE REASON if the market crashes, even though we know its been talked about. So what else do they really have? What is the one untouchable through this whole Saga? DFV. I have some theories that he was actually planted for us to get "retail" on board and form a movement. I mean how can you not love that guy, funny, likes cats, smart trader. He is the perfect "role model" for us to fall in love with, that's why it was important he was the one that found the opportunity, not some suit trader that we have all learned to hate. Anyways planted or not the only thing really left that would leave any doubt in some traders is if MSM comes out and says we have proof DFV sold. How would everyone feel? As we seen in the past when you idolize someone too much and they do something funky it becomes a shit show on the sub. If he is invested in it as much as we all are why wouldn't he join in on the forums? The fact that everyone uses that he might get sued is not a legitimate argument. All he is doing is holding a stock that he sees value in, nothing illegal about that. SO if down the road it comes out that he sold back in April don't let that change your mind. We have the DD we know all SHORTS have to cover. Who cares who is holding and who isn't. Burry was one of the first people to see GME for what it was and he sold when it hit 40. No one batted an eye. So let's not go crazy when or if it ever comes out that DFV sold. The truth is and will always be SHORTS HAVE TO COVER!

The new thing I've been seeing on the fud side is the fact that we are seeing posts of "JUST QUIT MY JOB BECAUSE THE SQUEEZE IS IMMINENT" again the purpose of fud is to make it seem like something is near or you need to do something right away. Let's not kid ourselves we've all seen the video of Kenny saying he had to fight every day like it was his last. In his mind he still thinks there is a way out of this, as long as we BUY and HOLD there really isn't anything else we can do, with all these imminent posts it makes it seem like we are so close. I personally believe we will be in to this fight in 2022 still so make sure not to buy options or quit your job bc u/smellmybut said he quit his job bc the TA says we see a massive spike tomorrow. This will take a while and that's okay, we literally don't have to do anything except BUY AND HOLD.

If you made it this far or you're just skipping to the end bc you DGAF, the congrats or fuck you it took me a while to write this. So what can we do with all this time? all this free time with no drama (I love it) its simple, start setting up what your life will be post squeeze, start looking at land you want to buy. Start getting your financials in order, because when it happens its going to happen quick and instead of whipping your big bank account around you will already know what to do with that money and that's when DUMB MONEY will become Smart Money.

Thanks again for reading and hopefully it gains some traction and we can start uncovering more skeletons which then would put more pressure on the SEC and HF to cover.

Sorry for no emojis as I'm a young boomer and don't know how to put them on the computer

In the end BUY and Hold is the only thing we can do. and if you can't buy that's okay HOLDing is as important.
