

Title: As a long time GME holder, I'm confused. Please help me.

Author: T_K_O_L

Created 2022-04-27 20:45:58 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/uddfnh/as_a_long_time_gme_holder_im_confused_please_help/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/uddfnh/as_a_long_time_gme_holder_im_confused_please_help/

In the last two weeks there's been really odd behavior seen on the stock market. First Netflix has a bad earnings report and the price goes down. Now Facebook has better than expected numbers and the price goes up.

How can this be? We all know from experience with GME that good news makes the price go down. We also know that no news makes the price go down, too. Sometimes up on no news as well. We've not had bad news that I can remember, but I'm betting that the price would go down then as well.

So what gives? Why are these stocks acting so counter to our norm?