Among my fully purple circle fellow apes, there are those of us (myself included) who are 100% drs on gme. Of you who are, do you plan to sell from computershare? What are the implications of this? I know that there price roughly is ten minutes behind the market, does that mean that if you sell, you get what is shown on computershare, or on the market (this is for a market sell because they haven't fixed the limit sell maximum as far as I know, if anyone knows please inform). Last issue is the fee, I mean when it happens, fees won't matter too much, but do I need to pay the fee from my current funds or does it get deducted from what I sell? Any advice is greatly appreciated.
