Hello to all the GME fellow apes!

TBH, I'm just looking for real simple answers. Please don't crucify me and make me regret I've asked..

So basically the first question is why should I care if the buy button gets removed? At this point I'm not looking to buy, I'm all bought up already. All I care about is selling.. Am I mistaking for seeing it like this?

The other one is about the dark pools and the related fuckery:

If shitadel is routing our buy orders to dark pools in order to control the price (which we can all agree is working), what's stopping them from routing as many buy orders as they please during the moass? I mean the buying by all the short yes? If they'll also get routed into the darkness, wouldn't that mean the price won't go up exactly as it hasn't with all of our buy orders?

No shill. Just dumb.
