

Title: Short Interest?

Author: Corellian-nerfherder

Created 2022-01-05 22:06:28 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/rwy262/short_interest/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/rwy262/short_interest/

So i like calculated moves, but i need evidence. I found this not too long ago which seems to be wrapping up stuff from the last year of GME.

<https://www.sec.gov/files/staff-report-equity-options-market-struction-conditions-early-2021.pdf>

the part that got me was this "...In the past, GME had several periods of high short interest, but none as high as the levels achieved from 2019 to mid-January 2021. GME short interest hit 50% of shares outstanding first in 2012 and then again in 2015, 2016, and 2018, before rising even further in 2019. From then until early 2021, GME short interest hovered around 100%, hitting its high of 109.26% on December 31, 2020..." and then there is a chart on page 27 that shows the short interest dropping from 90% to about 30%. My question is simply this, is there any substantial evidence that there is short interest on this stock at this point in time?

"In seeking to answer this question, staff observed that during some discrete periods, GME had sharp price increases concurrently with known major short sellers covering their short positions after incurring significant losses. During these times, short sellers covering their positions likely contributed to increases in GME's price."

All meme jokes and ape this n that aside... it seems logical that the positions closed softly and quietly over the course of the last two mini squeezes. looks to me like theres no short interest.