From the guy that brought you Virtu owns Simplex, and the launch time of Loopring's web launch, I have been a GME ape for over a year. I posted a month ago that Citadel will be releasing their annual financial statements around Feb 24rd. I created my spreadsheets and I am ready to tear these things apart, brick by brick, and find every little ounce of detail possible. When they are available, I will create a post and create edits as I decipher more information.

I expect to see a large increase in swaps due to their suspected basket swaps and volatility swaps.

I love all of you apes. Thank you all for a helluva ride over the past year. Ape no fight Ape. No cell, no sell. I hope to have an informative writeup for all of you that deciphers the numbers into an ELIA.
