

Title: Any thoughts on why $GME and the movie stock have seemingly de-coupled?

Not long ago $GME had a chart that was essentially mirrored by the movie stock (not sure if we're allowed to say the ticker symbol here). The most recent price actions do not, however. I got on here to see if there had been a DD on this, but I couldn't find one. I know there is speculation that there is a basket of stocks being shorted as its own ETF, which would explain the similar movements, but this would seem to contradict that.

Anyone have any thoughts? Has any DD been done on this yet?
