This weekend has been a huge discussion of options and their impact. If I were a hedgie, I'd run it in pre market and price people out (GME Options are already expensive), before they have a chance to buy at open. Based on the ETF exposures, would expect it to climb this week, prob best to do it early before we all FOMO in. If they don't, I'll be buying Feb 18 180c at open
