Okay I can't believe no-one is talking about this here, or am i just blind?

So apparently a NYSE rule change that goes into effect on sep 1st will allow after hour short trades to be marked long, basically making them invisible.

>Proposed Rule 7.39(d)(ii) would provide that member organizations would mark all sell orders as "long" as appropriate. The proposed rule text is based on NYSE American Rule 7.39E(d)(ii) with a non-substantive difference to use the term "member organization" instead of "ETP Holder."

I definitely don't have the wrinkle power to know what this means, but it seems super shady.

Here is the full filing <https://www.nyse.com/publicdocs/nyse/markets/nyse/rule-filings/filings/2022/SR-NYSE-2022-37.pdf>

Any big brain apes with thoughts on this?

Found this info thanks to Tom Zuzolo who made a video about it.
