Hey guys, thought I would share what I've learned from my experience of reaping bitcoin windfalls.

I got into BTC in 2012 so I'm in a really good spot now and hold a significant amount of GME.

What you are about to come into is a absolutely different world. It is essentially a different reality. It is a world where anything you buy is essentially free because whatever it is, it has no material impact on your net worth.

You are going to enter a phase of autonomy where you can do whatever you want. In my experience from all my reading you will want something to master that helps other people than yourself. That is the formula for human happiness.

Lesson one.

Be prepared to lose your relationships with your friends that didn't buy GME when you told them to buy. You are going to be a constant reminder of their mistake.

Lesson two.

Don't talk about it, don't advertise it. Watch out for luxury goods. All those things do is advertise to people that you have money. No one should know what you are wearing. Humility is cool. Wealth whispers money shouts.

Lesson three.

When your spending goes up, it is really fucking hard to come down. Spending begets spending. Set budgets for living and traveling.

Lesson four.

You are most likely going to be able to buy time. This is the truest form of luxury. Spend it wisely.

Lesson five

You are going to learn real fast what money doesn't buy and that is the shit you really come to value. Things like healthy relationships with people you can laugh with. Shit is priceless. You can't buy knowledge, you have to learn and work at shit just like everyone else and it is really rewarding.

Here is a google presentation I made on self development.

Good luck. I'm looking forward to working with you on building this world into a better and more fair place.
