

Title: I've already gotten my money's worth. The rest is icing on the cake. (But like whipped cream icing. I don't always go for that super sugary stuff.) ■

Over the years I've spent thousands of dollars on video games, computer parts, DnD books, board games, photography equipment, snowboarding gear, mountain biking stuff, travel expenses, etcetera, etcetera. And my return has been hundreds of thousands of hours of priceless entertainment, exercise (physical and cerebral), adventure, and memories that can only be had when the expense is fully justified by the experience. HODLing $GME is just my next expensive hobby. And, over the past year+, I've received my return, in full, and then some. ■ Now I'm just kicking back with my humble XX shares, zen as hell, knowing that this has been and will continue to be an experience of a lifetime. We are a part of history! Nothing we are doing right now, the things GameStop is doing, the technology that's being created, the direct registering of shares en mass, none of it has been done by anyone! This is a "shout-it-from-the-mountain-tops" movement that, after trudging through the main-stream media's ridicule and gaslighting, is barely more than a whisper falling on deaf ears when it finally reaches the masses (relatively. I say that but I did talk a co-worker's ear off today, for like an hour, about the entire global financial debacle). But that hasn't slowed my momentum in the least. And I know it hasn't slowed yours! I've already received my investment return AND profit in the experience alone. The rest is history. BUY. DRS. HODL. Be excellent to eachother. Here's to the start of a new week in this INCREDIBLE saga! ■
