INES FERRE: Yeah, that's right. I mean, look, it's been a very, very volatile-- these stocks have been very volatile. And in fact, I'm going to pull up the interactive board right now so you can just take a look. You can see NCF more than 1%, GameStop up more than 1%.

But let's take a look at a two-month chart. You can see here that these speculative stocks, AMC down 45% over the last two months, GameStop down 37% over the last two months. But look, if you go on Reddit, if you go on any of these platforms where you can look at what AMC apes and GameStop apes are saying, they're "hodlers." They are holding this for the long run.

KARINA CONTRERAS: OK, thank you so much for that report, Ines Ferre.
