just ask yourself this... how many rich people have you seen drive their rolls royces to the poor parts of town to flaunt their wealth? how many well fed people do you see going to places where people are hungry and brag about the meal they just had? how many people with houses do you see going to homeless people to brag about how many square feet of house they own? how many times have you seen the person who got a "A" on a test go to the person with an "F" and list off all of the questions that they got right? ... it doesn't happen! they write/comment/blog/broadcast/sh!!!/promote f.u.d./gloat/brag for a reason! it seems very implausible that the reason is that we are so very wrong!
