

Title: Locking the buy button again is more likely than MOASS

Author: Smurphilicious

Created 2022-03-23 14:19:35 UTC

Permalink: /r/DDintoGME/comments/tkuzls/locking_the_buy_button_again_is_more_likely_than/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/tkuzls/locking_the_buy_button_again_is_more_likely_than/

I love all the hype but just a reminder, nothing has actually changed for long positions. Float isn't locked. Wall Street still has every trick available to them. This isn't MOASS. If it gets out of hand they'll just turn off the buy button again. The upcoming run is going to result in tons of gain porn on the bets sub, which will just make a shitload of the longs bitter and demoralized when the run ends in a rug pull. I want to be hyped like everyone else but this run is just gonna help Wall Street. No one is going to be drsing now because they're afraid they'll miss MOASS, and Wall Street will escape a significant chunk of their shorts because people are going to sell, afraid they're missing out on easy money again.

Diamond hands. Nothing has changed, Ryan shrank the float but the answer is still drs.