

Title: HODL is the way you fuck Kenny. Don't give them a single fraction of a share until our goal is met. If you have any money you can't afford to lose. Take that out before this rocket gets going. We can't afford to shoot down our rocket mid squeeze

Once upon a time
prices were rising
when demand was higher than supply.

But then the emperor shouted:
"I AM THE MARKET!"

And Kenny stopped the price from rising.

But the market is always functional. So a new class of investors stepped in. It was the little guys, knowing not much. But they were used to sharing. They tried to understand and let their fellows know what they had learned. They cared for eachother. New ideas were rising. Ancient rules like "Devide And Conquer" were about to overcome. The old regieme had always been afraid of this. And a new hope began to spread...

The new claim: "Apes together strong"

Their only force was the twist of two little letters. And that has made all the difference.
