

Title: Who says TA doesn't work? Gamestop TA trending going back to 2019. Weird coincidence.

Retard here. This is not Financial Advice as I have no idea what I'm doing. I don't know what a Fibonacci sequence is nor do I know how to use any of the charting tools other than drawing a line here or there.

This is my own amateur TA, my own blend based off of patterns/trends that I see. And I created a line of where I think the floor is of the current trend.

Pretty much I draw a line then create parallel line grids. And connect them here and there.

This is my chart

I don't know if it's completely coincidental or what. But I extended the floor just for shits and giggles.

This is the floor

And this is what it extends to. The first line is the floor, and I added the other 2 which are just parallel just to check the original angle / direction of it.

Notice anything?

It hits the last day of the original stock buy back that may have triggered the squeeze. That's some weird shit. Probably just coincidence....

I don't even know if that was the end of the Buy back. Just thought it was interesting. Maybe coincidence, maybe not.

But we seem to have been on a suppressed trend since Dec 2019.

I don't know how to share my chart on tradingview mobile but if anyone knows and wants to take a look at it, I'd be more than happy to provide a link if there's a way to share it that is.
