

Title: If you haven't left webull yet for apex clearing, add having a dick for ceo to the list
Author: dgurn
Created 2022-01-21 19:18:20 UTC
Permalink: /r/GME/comments/s9ii1f/if_you_havent_left_webull_yet_for_apex_clearing/
Url: https://i.redd.it/wthu40rc3d81.jpg

The screenshot shows a mobile view of a Yahoo Finance article. At the top, there's a navigation bar with the time 1:05 and battery level 82%. Below the address bar, there's an advertisement for TONAL. The article title is "GameStop apes are all talk: Webull CEO" by Brian Sozzi, dated Fri, January 21, 2022, 11:40 AM, with a 2 min read time. Below the title, there's a section "In this article:" followed by a table of stock prices:

AMC	ESPIX	GME	ATVI	NTDOF
-0.86%	-1.92%	+2.58%	-0.09%	-0.66%

Below the table, there's a video player showing a GameStop stock price of 97.05, down 5.62 (7%). The video title is "Meme stocks: The power of the retail investor..." and the description is "Webull CEO Anthony Denier joins Yahoo Finance Live...". Below the video, there's a paragraph of text:

GameStop shares have been circling the bowl since the meme stock frenzy caused shares of the struggling retailer to explode to $500 intraday in late January 2021.

For Webull CEO Anthony Denier, the price action in GameStop (GME) underscores a few things.

"If you see the prices now [for GameStop] — that tells me that diamond hands or apes, I think it's a lot of talk," Denier said on Yahoo Finance Live. "We are seeing our traders and our investors take money off the table in GameStop."

At the bottom, there's an advertisement with the text "Ad Scroll to continue with content".