

Title: I'm just so confused about everything and feel so dumb.

Author: Justice4all97

Created 2021-08-20 13:19:11 UTC

Permalink: /r/ratioatblessions/comments/p8518e/im_just_so_confused_about_everything_and_feel_so/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/ratioatblessions/comments/p8518e/im_just_so_confused_about_everything_and_feel_so/

Is_self: True

Nobody in here knows me and I wouldn't expect them to. I'm a young guy who happens to be an ape, but I'm just so lost on what everybody in here is trying to get at.

I know Rab, and others, are trying to leave breadcrumbs to help everybody but I have no sense of the direction. The more he posts the more confused I get but I'm not hating. It's not on him or anybody else, it's on me. At first he dropped crumbs about citadel and connections and I thought he was trying to expose corruption, then it lead to crumbs about GME, and now it just seems like he's dropping crumbs about wisdom. I know I'm missing the bigger picture and honestly it sucks.

I am hodling and am as zen as can be, that's not my concern even in the slightest. I grind at work day and night, making money and supporting my family. I'm nowhere close to retiring so holding gme doesn't bother me even a little bit, no matter how long it takes. But I feel like I could be doing more because it seems like that's what this group is for.

I don't know how though. I feel like my brain doesn't even have the capacity to understand all the dropped hints, and post videos of this and that. Rab talking about gme transitioning awhile ago and that the path has changed.

I know this rant is pointless, and will probably not be seen or will come off as incredibly ignorant. That's exactly how I feel though, ignorant. I don't know what anybody is trying to say and I don't understand the course of action you all are taking with gme. I have my own price floor and I would say it's not unrealistic but I don't know what is and isn't unrealistic.

I'm sorry for the rant guys and gals, just being in the dark and not having the time, or the wisdom, to figure out how to navigate what In the hell y'all are talking about sucks. I still do Appreciate the community for helping others figure it out.