

Title: Good friend is a swaps regulator with a lot of non public data, need to know the right questions to ask him

Author: marxistmanamonster

Created 2022-05-20 18:07:25 UTC

Permalink: /r/DDintoGME/comments/uu40sh/good_friend_is_a_swaps_regulator_with_a_lot_of/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/uu40sh/good_friend_is_a_swaps_regulator_with_a_lot_of/

I have a lifelong friend who is a swaps regulator. He has access to a good amount of swaps data for our friends at Citadel (the MM) and a plethora of other shady institutions that have been the villains of this saga that isn't available to the public. He isn't an ape but also isn't anti - GameStop, he just hasn't really been paying attention to all of this. He is, however, perfectly aware that swaps are problematically opaque and ripe for abuse.

Before you ask, I already asked him if he can see the contents of the swaps. His reply was "in theory yeah if you know where to look."

I am quite smooth on this matter.

What are questions you would like asked to some one with broad access to swaps data? I will try to ask him as many of your questions as possible and report back

P.S. I know, "trust me I know a guy" but take a look at my post and comment history and I think you'll see I don't have ulterior motives here.