Hello again Apes...

Just finished some more coding in my database and I can now do longer time frames... not just day over day. Here is my first go at it...

I chose to look at the time period from Monday 1/24 thru Friday 1/28.

You can really begin to see where the volume was this week. It also makes me wonder if those apes with more wrinkles than I have can begin to see patterns of Delta hedging and where it is occurring.

If you happen to know any of the options quant apes, please pass this on to them.

Obligatory: Not financial advice.

Also for giggles: Here is a sampling of the updated version I am trying to create that has better visibility. Let me know your thoughts....
