First, I wanted to say thank you for the months of hilarity, learning, and fantastic delinquency. I've thoroughly enjoyed this journey alongside of you all more than I can ever express, but picture a smiling llama on a rocket with jacked tits, and that should do it. Second, I want to say that while the game is honestly over and we've already won, that doesn't mean we can afford to get complacent or stop learning.

As someone who has read an insane amount of information, I see a lot of people who want TL;DRs for everything, and while I get that, I don't think people understand how powerful information is and how incredibly important it is that you all read as much as possible. SEC filings, original DD, new DD, wallstreetonparade articles (Pam and Russ are legends), everything, even the stuff you don't like. Read it all. Once you see it, the whole picture, and you understand the grand scale this is unfolding on, it's honestly fucking amazing. The DD and the research is so important, and I think a lot of it has gotten lost in the mix. Take a look at the amazing research done by your fellow hodlers and share the hell out of it. The more information we spread, the better. Shitpost your hearts out. Make memes and gifs and have a blast in the comments sections like we always have, but always come back to the facts.

And it's not just about the corruption, it's about what Gamestop is building for tomorrow. The next thing. The fact is, Gamestop is at the forefront of something entirely new, something so much better than what we currently have, and not only are we moonbound, but nothing is EVER going to be the same. Savor this moment. Get back to laughing with each other and teaching each other and how it used to be--those of you who've been around a while know what I mean. Things were different when this all started, and I fucking miss that.

Every single person in this community is important. Each one of you has something you see, something you understand that the rest of us don't. Some of you are artists, some tech people, some grunts working jobs you hate and hanging onto your shares for dear life and everything in between. I don't mean to get all mushy and shit, but I see so much wasted time and energy when you could be learning and sharing really important information, some of it so important it absolutely has the power to move mountains...and titties.

So, from my stupid llama self, who some of you may know as the most shadowbanned llama ever to grace the pages of Twitter, get your fucking read on so we can share what we know and keep learning. They won't stop trying to fuck us. They'll carry this shit out into the world post-squeeze, and if you want a better system and a better world, you need to prepare for what comes next. It's all for nothing if we go back to the old system. Anyway, I fucking love you assholes, and no matter who you are or where the hell you live, I am sending you all a big fat fucking llama hug from the depths of my shadowban and telling you to go read if you haven't, yet.

Knowledge is power and shit. Power to the players.
