I see too many posts expecting this and that...

It is an earnings report. Expect earnings and nothing else. If Gamestop chooses to reveal more, awesome. If not, well it is just an earnings report.

What was the line, "work in silence til you are done"? Gamestop can say anything they want at anytime. RC can say whatever he wants at anytime. To me, nothing has changed in the fundamentals of Gamestop and the reason(s) I started investing in GME has not changed, so why should I worry?

I believe Gamestop is, rewording what others have said, "even if Gamestop never squeezes and somehow the hedgies win...I am here for the long hold. I believe that even if the price drops to $1, that it will go back up and the shares are severely undervalued...you might even say buying now is a Deep Fucking Value. I believe the company is gonna keep improving itself."

This is not financial advice. I buy, I hold, I...am gonna have num-nums then a nap...
