Fidelity's Virtual Assistant

1. Buying will not. If you're selling either of the positions you transferred today, keep in mind that the number of shares you have with Fidelity will not update until they are transferred out.

Let me double check on your other questions real quick. Bear with me a few minutes.

Ok, thank you

2. You should not have to request voting rights. If there is any proxy material pertaining to the stocks you own, they will appear in your account records under proxy materials. Additionally, you may receive an email or letter with a control number if such a situation were to apply.

3. Shares will automatically be updated online. It will not require any action on your part.

Thank you so much. I appreciate all the help. I am not sure if you're able to answer this one, but have you seen an increase in customers choosing to DRS their shares in the past 9 months?

I am not sure about specifically the last 9 months, but it's definitely a daily occurrence.

May I ask a few quick questions?

No problem! Sure thing.

1. Will purchasing or selling any stocks from either account disrupt the transfer of these 7 stocks to Computershare?

2. Am I able to request voting rights for any stocks through Fidelity?

3. If a stock splits do the additional shares automatically deposit into account?

into my account*

Sorry for so many questions. I appreciate your patience and help
