So I'm not a
-programmer
-an artist
-crypto guy

All I am is a shareholder. I want the game to change but heck I'm not really sure if I fully understand the new game. Does anyone have a really good right up on what the new game could look like.

As I see it, video games will be made in a GameStop platform which will allow them to help finance and own games. In turn, they will allow others to rent or buy the products.

There will be a product side to the metaverse as well. What I'm thinking is users could try on or inspect products before they buy it. I'm kind of thinking all the products of Amazon and Wayfair in a central place but with the metaverse it would be closer to a brick and mortar experience.

I'm sure GameStop will have their own currency when big enough.

So my questions are

- 1) Am I missing anything's
- 2) Can I help change the game even though I'm not an artist or a programmer? Or will I go the way of the do so bird
