I have XXX shares in my IRA, not a roth, and I am going to DRS them directly tomorrow. I've lost enough money on my other shitty investments that I probably will almost break even on 2022 taxes. The price may still go lower but I'm happy with where it is now and what that means for my favorite company.

I've already DRS'ed the rest of my portfolio, which only consisted of GME anyways. After this, I will have X split between 3 brokers and mid XXX in Computershare.

Too the moon my sisters and brothers! To the fucking moooooooooooooooooooooon!
