Yes I bought gme about a year and a half ago. I bout a few then I bout 1 more I ended up on xx with is now 59.7 shares. I was so pumped at the start I was posting on every bit of news on every superstition on every potential moonday. Then everyday I waited for moonday. I saw the price go up and down and down and down then up n up n up n down n down with every kind of twist and turn. Then I got bored but I still believed I still hoped and waited for moonday. I'm still waiting I still hope and I know what they did as do they. They are caught they are wrong we are right they are bad we are good. Every day I see them win the bad guys the powerful the rich the elite the ones who run countries and institutions and companies. They have the luxury of making money from money. While we wait and watch a stock go so high then so low. show ne one stock that does this so often. Its obvious to me that in the end they will lose as it is so obvious when you ho outside and look around you that there is a god and when you die it's not the end its a new start il pay for the bad and get rewarded for the good. So my message to all apes is keep doing good and we will win in the end.
