Is_self: True

SPOILER ALERT #1

The Organizers set PP up for failure using a variety of social engineering strategies. It is organized to make others view PP as unstable, cruel, racist, stupid and incapable. Several social groups are participating, yet are not aware they are being used to destroy a person. Most participants would be horrified to learn how they have been used.

SPOILER ALERT #2

This game is a horrible heap of racist garbage. A caring community has been working their ASSES off to get PP out of DC because they believe she is in legitimate danger. She does not have a guidebook on their methodology so they think she is BLOWING THEM OFF or PURPOSEFULLY screwing with them. This is untrue and BY DESIGN of the Organizers.

SPOILER ALERT #3

If you have lost time, money or a job in the process, then you are a victim of fraud.

One photo with so much meaning for so many.

Choose your own adventure while seeking a hidden cryptowallet containing enough money to

- * Buy that yacht WITH the babes
- * Pay for a course to show your family member that you think they are a piece of shit
- * Prevent an algorithm from being implemented that will bring in a new world order
- * Distribute reparations to your community
- * Bust up a pedophile ring
- * Obama wants you to get involved in politics.
- * Save PP from becoming a sex slave
- * Be the first to compromising information!

Rules are that you must stick to your chat group and never ever post on Reddit. Some may have signed an NDA.

PeachPrincess didn't sign shit and now she is officially sick of this shit.

PP was activated in the most abrupt manner of possible. They warned her it would be hard. They warned her she would forget due to the continuation of a war already waged against her. The trauma sent her way nearly accomplished that. Someone should have reached out to remind her, but whatever.

For some reason, she has been an object of focus by one or many of the Organizers for a very long time. We will call them the Creeps.

The Creeps view themselves as some type of elite whatever in whatever field talking about whatever. They're really just a bunch of gatekeeping assholes who believe their credentials make them totally unbiased and uncorruptible. Think this is also how they justify their secret side lives exploring misogyny, racism and other shitty things.

The Creeps run many different social groups and apps and are members of many others. They use the more nefarious ones to screw around with people they don't like or use that info to drive their Gatekeeping Groups.

And one of these Gatekeeping Muthafuckas decided they would support PP in public, but would sabotage them in the background....

You see, they thought PP was a dumb cheerleader. Problem is that she can't even do a cartwheel. The truth of the matter is that she was rather unfortunate looking as a child. She tried to stand up to the bullies, but was pulled aside and told, "Make yourself less of a target." I've seen the pictures. There wasn't much that could help that situation. Actually, trying would have made it worse.

PP once made a joke which many interpreted one way, but if you actually know her....it was more revealing of the extensive physical and sexual abuse she experienced as a child. At the time, PP meant it as a funny ("Think Jenny Slate!") but years of therapy have shown her there are better ways to talk about such things. It also revealed some fucked up behavioral conditioning by her own family so that she would never speak of it.

One particular Organizer has a strange fixation on PP's sister and did something really nice for her: removing certain info off the Dark Web. Too bad there were already copies made. Anyway, she watched a live chat where this person bragged about getting PP's sister drunk & used that to gain more information.

PP has tried to warn her family, but they have been seduced with flattery, access to a network of leveraged people, and cute parties. This particular Organizer has developed a methodology of how to hide your fucked up beliefs in plain site: image control.

Don't forget the Manosphere/Dating groups....PP learned to identify that cabel pretty early on and refined her methodology of "How to Fuck with Dudes who Think Hating Women is a Desirable Personality Trait." Her favorite moment of inspiration is "The Nobel Prize is an Unnecessary Superlative" speech she gave to two of the most pretentious men she ever met. It was ridiculous and hopefully they reported it back..have an idiotic image to maintain. One of these guys bragged about a family vault in Switzerland containing items taken during WWII from Jewish families.

Fucked. Up.

One of the Organizers husband is a HUGE misogynist so she joined his groups in hopes of making it a way for them to connect. PP saw these people in action a few weeks ago and was so freaked out, that she couldn't sleep and spent the night running through different scenarios to protect the person she thought was her friend if that dude came through the door.

She didn't make the connection between the online and real-life identities for a while.

PP is positively tickled that two of her joke submissions from 2013 were copy-pasta'd verbatim on Twitter. One of the dudes had tried to neg her....ribcage. The other looks to be a lazy ass who didn't even correct the purposefully placed grammatical errors.

So why do you think so many groups are targeted at this one particular Game? Because PP knows what Someone did last Summer and the Summer before that and the Summer before that....and she is not the only one.

PP isn't here for the money. She isn't here for the power. She is here for THE TRUTH. Right now, she's realizing her family is comprised of terrible people who don't give a shit about her and never have, so it's been a bit rough.

If you know her or see her walking around the streets, then don't be afraid to approach her and tell her what you think all of this is. She is extremely concerned that something bad is going to happen because there are opposing social groups with already heightened tensions. Do not feel embarrassed or ashamed for being trusting. Being a good person is everything and good people need to stick together.
