I know most of us don't want to hear it, especially if you bought the top, but let's normalize dips. They are absolutely necessary in a healthy market. When price is always going up and rarely retraces it is a red flag that is not sustainable.

Please take into consideration that there is a lot of institutional traders, whales, and market makers that are participating in crypto, and that comes with price action. Healthy retracements are an opportunity to buy more :) If you are new, don't worry, there is more to come if you are patient. If you been doing this for a while, a small dip means nothing because you are still in profit.

Stay diligent, stay educated, and always do your own research. The crypto markets do not favor the greedy and those trying to make a quick buck. Change your mindset to long term, and watch your portfolio grow.
