

Title: Melvin closing and kicking the can?

Author: Quit_Awkward

Created 2022-05-21 01:16:04 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/uucga0/melvin_closing_and_kicking_the_can/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/uucga0/melvin\_closing\_and\_kicking\_the\_can/

So now that's one of the corrupt Hedgefks have closed shop, how does that work for GME and closing their shorts? We all know how the Government likes to take years to investigate their friends and then lose files in the process. Will this help Melvin? I mean normally when marge calls they have a certain amount of time to close. But when forced out of business does that mean investigations and stalling with appeal after appeal? I mean when a Co. Wants to continue they will have to cover to continue. But when you're already fkd and are closed just wondering if theirs a different process? Lidigation, court hearings, witnesses? Most bankrupted co. Can take years through process just to pay past debts. Do they sell everything settle with their clients then leftover goes to cover shorts? Just asking the smart ones out their because I like to learn as I go. And curious for the future Hedgefks who follow suit?