

Title: ■If retail took a dub last year by overloading call options and the shorts haven't covered, wouldn't options work again?■

Author: passtheGUAK

Created 2022-01-13 13:54:21 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/s2zyhl/if_retail_took_a_dub_last_year_by_overloading/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/s2zyhl/if_retail_took_a_dub_last_year_by_overloading/

Look everyone agrees Jan 28th never ended

But what retail contributed most to Jan 28th seems to be call options

So imagine if retail overloaded the system again w calls what would happen?

Now hear me out one second

Ur citadel

You make mad cash

You can take a loss

But what you can't take

Is an all in bet

Why would they ever take retail head on?

They have so much to lose

Their money comes from their business

If the business is threatened they will protect the business

How?

Hedging the bet

Look I know it sounds super simple

But in my life the biggest problems typically have the most simple causes

Whole pc crashes?

It's one app

Whole body dies?

It's one organ

Whole market collapses?

It's gme

Look I'm a total fuckin retard

And please don't listen to me or take this as financial advise I am S-T-UPOD

But they aren't scared of numbers or statistics or laws they own that shit

The system is scared of retards

Just an ape trying to contribute

■ ■ ■