Quick update on my DRS they transferred literally straight away but still hadn't heard anything from CS after 3 weeks so decided to ring them. The first representative couldn't find anything and told me to ring the broker, after hours of chasing eventually found out it had been settled and told to contact CS. So I phoned them back and they found it. BUT and this is a BIG but. It's going to take up to 30. Days to reach me via snail mail yes 30 days. I'm guessing that's worse case scenario but just thought I'd let you guys know incase your in the same boat wondering where your confirmation is. They can't send it out until 3 business days once they've received it then it's 30 days from then. I have a number if anyone needs it.
