so german brokers or better the german clearing house made a mistake by giving out a split order instead of a splivi order for gme.

so all german brokers had to recall the split and book a dividend split. but that only works if the clearing house hands out certified shares from computershare to the brokers!!!

i dont think they were able to get enough shares for german apes.

what a coincidence the shareprice went parabolic just the moment the euroshares disappeared????!!!!!!■
did german brokers go in the market to buy shares to deliver on monday??

u have to know, germany is a rich country and there are many apes here!!! and this saga was hyped here when price was 20$ in jan 21...

i am 100% sure german apes alone hold the whole float most in broker accs.

we had 3m volume on friday!! 1,5m of that was on this uptic in the chart at 2pm■■■ so my guess is on monday we will see if the lost shares are back or not. if so, i think those shares are real shares! us apes have to understand german laws are not that corrupt as the us laws are. in the bafin statement it says if u buy shares via a official broker in germany ur entitelt to real own those shares with all ownerrights. iam pretty sure rc knew what will happen, and there will be a new announcement next week, something lift off switch thingy while german apes ignite the rocket by sucking all real shares out of the market...

i miss 660 shares atm and i am zen af. nothing can my tits jack more then monday, this time it s endgame again!!!
